Wives Wanted.

From Spokane, Washington, there recently came an appeal from a hundred young business men and farmers for suitable wives. Down in Oklahoma farmers' institutes have quit talking about merino sheep and Hereford cattle and are devoting their time to a discussion of how to get suitable housewives for the hundreds of young farmers in that State. At Randlett, Oklahoma, several score of bachelors who live in what is called the Big Pasture have organized themselves into a matrimonial association and are advertising in the metropolitan press for wives. Only last week one thousand Irish girls, bent upon matrimony, landed in New York and are reported to have been almost gobbled up by agents who want to send them into the Middle West.—Tennesseean.

Chance to Write for Paper.

Who has not at times had ideas which he or she would like to see appear in some newspaper? Many a good thought has slumbered in the brain of the thinker because of the difficulties and rebuffs which are always supposed to lie in the path of the editorial sanctum. The Chicago Record-Herald, however, welcomes such ideas and has a page in its Saturday issue called "The Battle Ground of Modern Thought," which is devoted exclusively to letters from its readers. The best articles received each week are carefully edited and printed over the writers' names. The amount of really valuable matter that finds its way into the department is remarkable and is proof that the ability to write well is not confined to professional writers. The only restriction the Record-Herald puts upon writers for this interesting page is that articles must not be of a controversial nature and be devoted to the discussion of some current topic.
